

MONDAY NIGHT SOLUTIONS

MEN AND WOMEN:
MARS AND VENUS?
DR. JOHN TOWNSEND

JANUARY 24, 2005 MNS-684

There is no doubt that men and women are very different creatures. We look at life and relationships differently. From a man's perspective, women may seem to be from another planet, and vice versa! But often our perception of the opposite sex as is based on more than gender differences—it stems from our past romantic experiences, too. Add to that our experience of growing up with (or without) the opposite sex, and we can come away with some distinct but often confusing ideas about each other. All of our relationships can be affected by these perceptions. It's important to know when we are "right on" and when we are "off base" in our assessments of the "other" people in our lives. Married or single, join us and learn helpful ways to sort through what's real and what's not when it comes to the opposite sex. MNS-684

OUTLINE

1. Why do we care about this?

2. Gender differences

3. Character differences

4. Working it all out

Discussion questions:

1. How has the issue of men and women's differences affected your life?
2. In what ways do you see men and women being different due to gender?
3. How has character played a part in this question in your experiences?
4. What can you do to make the differences a positive thing?